

Lennon, Beth

From: Jerry Sandercombe [jerrysandercombe@gmail.com]
Sent: 14 March 2017 12:39
To: Lennon, Beth
Subject: Re: 20 Tudor Avenue, Dymchurch

Hi Ms lennon,

thank you for your email, and in answer to your question I feel the 1st floor brickwork should be painted to match the existing rear and side elevations. It would not create a good finish to have a line where the ground floor is painted and the 1st floor in red (unpainted).

I am however open to any preference you should suggest.

Kind regards Jerry Sandercombe

On Tuesday, March 14, 2017, <Beth.Lennon@shepway.gov.uk> wrote:

> Dear Mr Sandercombe

>

>

>

> Y17/0074/SH

>

> 20 Tudor Avenue, Dymchurch

> Erection of first floor rear extension

>

>

>

> I write in regard to your above application for planning permission. I am just in the process of writing my report and have noticed that the proposed materials for the extension are brickwork and I remember from my site visit that the existing single storey rear extension is painted brickwork. Could you just confirm for me whether you intend to have red brickwork to match the main dwelling or painted brickwork for the proposed first floor extension?

>

>

>

> Kind regards

>

>

>

> Beth Lennon

>

> Planning Officer

>

> Development Control

>

> T: 01303 853298

>

> Shepway District Council, Civic Centre,

>

> Castle Hill Avenue, Folkestone, Kent, CT20 2QY

>

> E: beth.lennon@shepway.gov.uk

>

>

>