Dean pitching in for Cannons

Former Ashford assistant boss Dean Beckwith has made a playing return with Hythe. Beckwith, 41, made his debut in the Cannons' 2-0 Isthmian South East win over AFC Croydon on Saturday.

The former Gillingham centre-back left Ashford two weeks ago following Danny Kedwell's departure as manager. He's secured a swift return to football, however, making an instant impact on Cannons boss Nick Davis.

"Dean works with my assistant manager, Damien Hopkins, so it's been on the cards," said Davis. "He played 90 minutes for Punjab last Tuesday night, so it's quite a lot of football in a short space of time where he's in his 40s now.

"But he's that calming influence at the back. He played 25-odd games for Chatham last year, so he's kept himself fit. He's fitted in really well."

Another new signing made an impression, with former Millwall academy player Lewis White scoring on his debut. He added to Vance Bola's goal as Hythe ended a run of seven straight defeats.

White was with National League South Worthing last term and has had spells with Welling, Carshalton and Dulwich.

Davis said: "He started off a little slow, I'm not going to lie, but then he turned it on and we saw a couple of bits of magic. "He was put in one-on-one by Anthony Adesite and it's a great finish.

"He hasn't played loads of football lately, so we had to try and manage him. He came off with 15-20 minutes to go. We played him in the No.10 role but he can play in a couple of positions."

Hythe were missing five regulars against AFC Croydon. Javaun Splatt, David Ozobia and TT Walters were suspended, Medy Elito was out with a knee injury while Ollie Gray pulled out on the morning of the game.

Hythe lost 2-1 at home to Broadbridge Heath on Tuesday night, Adesite scoring their goal. They visit Eastbourne Town on Saturday (3pm) and travel to Merstham on Tuesday (7.45pm).

Why Sunday KO is OK

By Thomas Reeves

Andy Drury can see the positives of his play-off chasing Folkestone side playing this Sunday.

Isthmian Premier Invicta will face Hashtag United (3pm) - a side they hope to compete with for a top-five finish this season - a day later than usual due to their weekend hosts ground-sharing alongside Aveley.

Folkestone boss Drury said: "It's not a bad thing.

"Sometimes, you look at it and other teams are playing on the Sunday and, playing on the Saturday, you think 'Let's try and put some pressure on them'.

"But there's no one else playing on Sunday so we can see where a win would take us.

"It doesn't really change anything for us because we haven't got a game the following mid-week.

"If anything, it gives us an extra day of rest so I don't see it impacting our group at all."

Hashtag have continued to settle nicely into life at Step 3 during their second campaign at the level.

"They have done really well this year," Drury said. "They have signed a lot of good, experienced players and they have got a lot of attacking threats.

"But every game is going to be tough. It's more just about us turning up.

"Nine times out of 10, if we do that, we should be successful."

Folkestone's home game against Chichester last Saturday was postponed. The Hashtag match will sandwich Tuesday night's 2-1 loss at Dulwich and a trip to Cray Wanderers next weekend - three away matches Drury is well-aware of the importance of in the context of Invicta's season.

Speaking before Tuesday's defeat when Joe Turner scored a late consolation, Drury said: "I went and watched Cray beat Chatham 4-1 instead on Saturday - not many teams do that!

"They're three tough games and they'll go a long way to defining our season.

"Because the referee called it (the Chichester game) off a bit late, that was a bit disappointing. But I understood where he was coming from so, instead, it was just a training session for the players.

"The pitch was all right at the start of the week. Then, there was a bit of rain on it on the Friday and it just didn't really recover from that.

"Hopefully, that's the last one [called off due to the weather] and we have just got an extra game in hand."

While the weekend postponement helped further highlight the need for Folkestone to build a 3G pitch - something they plan to do this summer - Drury added: "We have been a bit unlucky, as well, with the last couple.

"The rain has just come at tricky times a bit between 11am and 2pm and, even on Saturday, that happened. It shows why we're getting a 3G pitch."

An impromptu training session did allow a Folkestone team that have recently recalled young defender Joel Odeniran from his latest loan at Herne Bay, with coach Danny Kedwell also joining the back-room staff, more time together away from matches to gel.

"Greeny (Nathan Green) has got fit, Ade Yusuff has come in and Luke Allen has come in," said Drury, who hopes captain Ian Gayle and top scorer Dan Smith will return from short-term unavailability in the near future.

"That gives us extra options. Joel has played a few games since he's come back and Keds knows most of the players, anyway.

"Everywhere you look, we have got proper men now - and proper men on the bench, as well.

"The most important thing that we have got to do between now and the end of the season is keep everyone fit. If we keep everyone fit, we have got a good chance of having a good run."

■ Paul Stanton has resigned from his position as a Folkestone Invicta director this week.
